Mary, depending on what recorder he's using, it may be possible for him to select a different audio format on the recorder to create smaller audio files. Many of the Olympus recorders have three or four or more different formats or level of compression.

or more specifically wma files. One of my docs has decided to send these to me – great. But he keeps telling me he gets an error message saying the file is too large ( a couple have come through). Can someone explain to me so I can explain to him how to compress the file? Or, is there something I need to do on this side? THANKS.
