Donna, I don't buy or trade on eBay, but why would they make you take this item down? Is Stedman's February 2008 naughty?

They just don't like you selling their software. I tried a year or so ago with some that I hadn't used and they took it down, so I'm not even going to try this time. It's not like I opened it or activated the license. I don't know. They're very protective, I guess. As a side note, this is the software I bought when their stuff was compromised and we got charges on our credit card from who knows who.
