I'm listening to Senator Obama making promises if he is elected President. If only!

As a person on Social Security and making less than $50,000 a year, I'd really like to have to pay no taxes.

The promise of $1,000 for every household to apply toward energy and food would go a long way for me.

As I said, if only. I'm not counting, though, on any promise from either candidate to come to fruition.

Do any of you remember any major broken promises? That is, other than the infamous, "Read my lips, no new taxes."
