I've heard that ritalin has problems. When a teen goes off ritalin (cause it's been successful all these years) the teen goes into a major deep depression. I've not seen this in person, but heard it from two or more people.

I know..... I also heard about the Great Gas Out, and the Teddy Bear Virus, and that missing girl from wherever who was kidnapped by the guy with the 274 felony warrants. This isn't likely to be any more credible. But it seemed relevant.

I'm new to this newsgroups.
I was prescribed Clarithromycin Biaxin xl 500mg a week ago to clear up my asthma. It did the trick. But recently, I've begun experiencing some of the awful side effects listed on the monograph given by my pharmacist.
The side effects I've experienced were changes in emotions, mood changes and depression. It didn't occur to me that it might be the medication causing this until yesterday, when I became so depressed I actually thought of suicide! I had even gone through the planing in my head as to how and where to end it all! And that life isn't worth living anymore. But suddenly this morning I 'snapped out of it' and realized what was happening when a co-worker asked me why I looked so sad lately.
Unbelievable! I'd never take my own life - it's ridiculous!
I've stopped taking it and will be checking with my doctor this week. Are these side effects common? Perhaps they happen to affect me more than others?
I hope to warn other users of this medication before it's too
