

Please Help with Diagnosis

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med/2004-08/0415.html>

From: Darren Weston (gingerdazza_at_yahoo.com)

Date: 08/05/04

Date: 5 Aug 2004 04:29:30 -0700

Profile:

28 y/o

male

obese

Problem:

I have been going through various symptoms of for months. Started with cold, gradually got alot worse to the point of light headedness with sharp chest pains either side of my left breast. also sometimes tenderness all along bottom of rib cage, and intense gurgling down left side of chest wall, like air passing through but very loud! no curshing feelings on chest. no arm pain at this point. no out of breathe. gradually got better. light headedness no longer present, but occassional chest pain still there. also now, i seem to have developed a lump feeling at base of throat, occasional quick moderate shooting pain along underside of forearm, moderately tense/tight feeling across top of shoulders and very top of chest, slight tenderness to right jugular area of neck, occasional pain between shoulder blades slightly left of centre and to a lesser degree at the front of chest. throughout this i have also had a tender spleen (not 100% it is spleen but it is in upper left quandrant of abdomen).

had echocardiogram – clear

ecg's – 95% clear, tho one did show abnormal Tbar

blood pressure avg 140/90

high ALT enzymes – 150

moderate gamma gt – 50.1 (doc not worried by this – said up to 50 is limit)

high iron levels

other blood profile attributes normal.

has anyone got any ideas what this could be?