

sci.med: Deep blue baby head (also: Yurko case: No guilty plea entered)

Deep blue baby head (also: Yurko case: No guilty plea entered)

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med/2004-08/3695.html>

From: Todd Gastaldo (tgastaldo_at_earthlink.net)

Date: 08/30/04

Date: Mon, 30 Aug 2004 18:28:45 GMT

DEEP BLUE BABY HEAD See below...

First this...

YURKO CASE

Peter Bowditch appears to me to have gotten a fact wrong about the Yurko outcome (see below)....

ANOTHER Peter (writing for the Yurkos) also got a fact wrong – but took the time to correct it...

This second Peter wrote:

"NO GUILTY PLEA ENTERED"...

Dear Yurko Supporter

Good bad news :-)

A mistake was made in the previous statement of the hearing outcome. What I heard in that quick phone call was wrong, or I heard it wrong. Because the autopsy was invalidated, there could be no basis of guilt. Thus the murder charge was dropped. At first the judge granted a new trial, which really seems legally improper without autopsy evidence. However, immediately after that, further negotiation began. Beyond the murder charge, the manslaughter charge remained, and it is that to which Alan pleaded 'nolo' (no contest) and was released for time served.

I heard the person on the phone say he pleaded guilty to manslaughter (negligence), when that was simply a statement Alan made in court saying he felt guilty of negligence for allowing the doctors to vaccinate the baby. There was no sense in staying in jail perhaps two more years to hold a new trial on the manslaughter, so the nolo plea still allows further procedure to ascertain innocence, but gains him release. Thus, no guilty plea was entered, on a felony or otherwise.

Deep blue baby head (also: Yurko case: No guilty plea entered)

sci.med: Deep blue baby head (also: Yurko case: No guilty plea entered)

So, everything is cool, except that the SBS matter was left up in the air. That is, we won't get to demonstrate its falsehood via this case. But nothing could really be done about it at this point, because it's unlikely that a new trial would even be held without autopsy evidence. So now we must engage a new path.

Hope this helps. Sincere apology for the confusion.

Grateful,

Peter

for Alan, Francine, the YP Staff—and Alan Ream Yurko, a very tough little guy who suffered greatly in his short time, and who gave his heart for Truth.

Obviously, this latter Peter is not PETER BOWDITCH...

Why is Peter Bowditch still hammering Alan Yurko as MDs engage in mass sometimes fatal child abuse?

MD—obstetricians are temporarily asphyxiating many babies in order to rob them of up to 50% of blood they would otherwise have transfused to themselves; that is, MDs are immediately amputating natural oxygenation/transfusion devices called placentas – with babies still blue!

See EMTs and cord clamping – everyone should be interested...