

Re: Why this newsgroup is doomed, and what you can do about it

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med/2004-09/0149.html>

From: Dot (._at_...)

Date: 09/01/04

Date: Thu, 02 Sep 2004 00:08:10 +0100

I used to write posts like yours many years ago when I was going through a nervous breakdown. It's quite saddening to look back & wonder why.

If you want something from life I'd suggest compassion as a radical alternative to your present choice. To misquote someone – if your happiness depends on other peoples opinions, you will never be happy type 2 recent

On Wed, 01 Sep 2004 09:17:37 -0400, "Dr. Andrew B. Chung, MD/PhD" <andrew@heartmdphd.com> wrote:

>Carey Gregory wrote:

>>

>> "Dr. Andrew B. Chung, MD/PhD" <andrew@heartmdphd.com> wrote:

>>

>> >"Jennifer S." wrote:

>> >

>> >> Get a clue dude! This is a low carb newsgroup not a Christian forum.

>> >

>> >Actually, this is unmoderated Usenet.

>>

>> A dishonest reply.

>

>The truth.

>

>> You know perfectly well unmoderated isn't a license to >> ignore newsgroup charters.

>

>I did not write that it was.

>

>> >You are free to talk about anything you want.

>>

>> No, you are not.

>

sci.med: Re: Why this newsgroup is doomed, and what you can do about it >Actually you are. Would suggest you visit sci.med to see how many >people get banned from posting there because they participated in >discussing a topic you disliked.

>
>> Dishonest yet again.
>
>It remains my choice to write truthfully.
>
>> You been around many years and know >> perfectly well that's not how newsgroups work.
>
>It is because I have been around for many years that I can write with >authority on this topic.
>
>> Were it so, usenet would >> have crumbled into complete chaos years ago.
>
>Not from people involved in heated debate/discussion. What happens on >Usenet mirrors what happens in the real world when there is free >speech/press.
>
>> Folks, screaming at Chung is pointless.
>
>Yes, it is. Eventually you will tire of it and stop. Otherwise you will >join the other wispy shadows in the dark corners of Usenet.
>
>> I and others have screamed at him
>> for a long time now,
>
>Eventually you too will tire of it and stop. Or you too you will join >the other wispy shadows in the dark corners of Usenet.
>
>
>> and he clearly has no intention of stopping his abuse.
>
>I will continue to help folks in an openly Christian fashion for as long >as God would have me do this.
>
>Sorry my being the openly Christian man that I am bothers you (shrug).
>
>
>> If you give a damn about your newsgroup, you will learn how to file >> complaints and start doing so.
>
>If you want your complaints to work, I would suggest you pray to God >about it, in Christ's name.
>
>Ime, this works every time. Simply look at what has happened to those >anti-christians who have been reduced to mere shadows lurking in the >dark corners of Usenet. They remain in my prayers to God, in Christ's >name. May He forgive them.

Re: Why this newsgroup is doomed, and what you can do about it

sci.med: Re: Why this newsgroup is doomed, and what you can do about it

>
>
>> If you won't, then your newsgroup is doomed >> to destruction.
>
>Without God's blessings, there can only be doom.
>
>> Yes, one single person can do that.
>
>With God's help, a single person can do anything.
>
>> I've seen it done more >> than once (very recently in fact) and these groups are well on their way to >> that fate.
>
>Without God's blessings, there is only fate.
>
>Thankfully, God has been blessing SMC. It remains in my prayers, that >He continues to bless SMC, in Christ's name.
>
>> Either start giving a damn, or kiss it goodbye.
>
>Give your complaints that shot of infinite power by praying to God, in >Christ's name.
>
>I assure you that if you do and believe in Him, your prayers will be >answered.
>
>You remain in my prayers, dear Carey whom I love.
>
>Please consider the following to save yourself:
>
><http://makeashorterlink.com/?I22222129>
>
>
>Servant to the humblest person in the universe,
>
>Andrew