CHIROS AND FLU (AND MD BIRTH FELONIES)...

Some doctors of chiropractic DO care about shortage of flu vaccines. Some doctors of chiropractic TAKE the flu vaccine. One chiropractor – Dr. Donald E. Harte – seems to suggest otherwise in a SF Chronicle article reproduced below.)

Oddly, doctors of chiropractic – Dr. Harte for example – are failing to mention that medicine's most frequent medical and surgical behaviors are obvious frauds...

PREGNANT WOMEN: To offer your baby an "extra" up to 30% – just roll onto your side as you push your baby out. Talk to your OB today.

To offer your baby free daily immunizations, see the very end of this post.

THE MAJOR MD BIRTH FELONY (mass denial of immunization is discussed below)...

OBs are knowingly closing birth canals up to 30% and keeping birth canals closed when babies get stuck.

OBs are performing forceps and vacuum deliveries – and slicing vaginas and abdomens en masse – thereby surgically/fraudulently claiming they are doing/have done everything possible to open birth canals – even as they close birth canals up to 30%.

OBs are violently pushing on tiny spines (with oxytocin/Cytotec) and gruesomely pulling on tiny spines (with hands, forceps and vacuums)...

Some babies die, some are paralyzed – most "only" have their spines gruesomely wrenched.

ALL spinal manipulation is gruesome with the birth canal closed up to 30%.

OBs are committing a massive spinal manipulation crime complicated by felony surgical assaults on women.

sci.med: Chiros and flu (and MD birth felonies)

Remember, OBs are KEEPING birth canals closed when babies get stuck and hands, forceps and vacuums are used.

It may still be possible to purchase ACOG's video of this obvious felony:

FLU...Loss of flu vaccinations this year pales in comparison to the annual loss of free daily immunizations caused by MDs lying by omission. More on this at the end of this post...

Time for a 'regime change' in attitude about medicine

Poof! Half of our flu vaccine is gone, because the British government suspended the license of a major manufacturer, Chiron, over a contamination problem. Is this a public health nightmare, as the "authorities" are crying, or an opportunity to stop and think?

The Chiron disaster comes as these authorities are now telling us that the flu vaccine is desperately needed not just for senior citizens, but also for infants and pregnant women. Besides the fact that the vaccine is not uniformly effective and often gives people the flu, it contains a witch's brew of toxic chemicals including mercury and aluminum. Is this something that a pregnant woman, and her baby, should be exposed to? This sudden shortage would seem more a blessing!

On another front, Vioxx, the much-advertised, much-prescribed arthritis "wonder drug" was pulled off the market last month because it doubles the risk of heart disease (including "sudden cardiac death") and stroke. It turns out that a good part of this knowledge about Vioxx's danger was suspected since 1999. It also turns out that Vioxx, despite the slick TV and magazine ads, has not been shown to be significantly more effective than the much cheaper nonprescription anti-inflammatories such as Tylenol and Advil.

The Chiron flu vaccine and Vioxx fiascos are not isolated incidents. Two years ago, after decades of doctors pushing hormone replacement therapy for virtually every menopausal woman (as if menopause was a disease), alleging side benefits of decreasing rates of heart disease, stroke and cancer, it became known that HRT actually causes these ailments. Anyone in the field should have realized that sex hormones (including estrogen) are, chemically, steroids, very powerful and usually dangerous when used as drugs.

The examples don't stop there: The diabetes drug Rezulin was pulled from the market because it was killing people by destroying their livers; a vaccine for infants to prevent diarrhea due to rotavirus was pulled because of deaths caused by the intestines folding up into themselves; and the anti-cholesterol drug, Baycol, was withdrawn due to deaths from a condition known as rhabdomyolysis, in which muscle tissue breaks down into the blood, after which it clogs the kidneys.

In the not too distant medical past (in the 20th century), we can look back on radium nasal suppositories for sinus infections, numerous mercury-based drugs commonly prescribed for a variety of diseases, tonsils yanked out of almost every child (forgetting that the tonsils are an important part of the immune system) and frontal lobotomies, insulin shock and electroshock for various mental disorders. All these catastrophes were once "state of the art."

Back in 1991, the British Medical Journal, one of the oldest and most respectable scientific journals in the world, published an editorial entitled "Where is the wisdom? The poverty of medical evidence." The author, Dr. Richard Smith, stated that "... only about 15 percent of medical interventions are supported by solid scientific evidence. This is partly because only 1 percent of the articles in medical journals are scientifically sound, and partly because many treatments have never been assessed at all."

These days, whatever has previously been somewhat scientific has been perverted for commercial gain by the pharmaceutical giants. DTC ("direct-to-consumer") drug ads have become ubiquitous on TV, radio and in magazines. Patients come in demanding a particular drug, and doctors usually prescribe it. Medical education itself, both pre- and post-graduate, is sponsored, to a great degree, by pharmaceutical companies, which get naming rights for their donations (e.g., Purdue Pharma Pain Center at Massachusetts General Hospital).

What should you do if you have been on drugs that have been pulled? Just go on to the next "wonder drug"? Some count on the "next wave," like gene therapy or stem-cell therapy. I assure you that, in these cases as well, the "wonder drug," or therapy, of today, will be the "blunder drug," or therapy, of tomorrow.

In the realm of health care, it is time for a mental "regime change." The modern obsession with high tech cannot, rationally, extend to health care in the form of trust in the next medical breakthrough.

There are two alternate choices for your health. One is to consider "alternative medicine," such as Chinese medicine and homeopathy, which are considered safer than establishment medicine. However, like traditional medicine, they still rely on diagnosis and treatment.

The other alternate road is totally different, philosophically as well as practically. It leads to the ultimate high tech, the wisdom within the body, its innate intelligence. The type of doctor who has respect for this intelligence -- making sure that it is expressed more fully, resulting in healing, resulting in health, resulting in wellness -- is the chiropractor. When people read books by Harvard-trained "alternative" doctors like Deepak Chopra and Andrew Weil, they think that it is so cool that they have discovered that the body can heal itself. Chiropractic has been saying this for more than 100 years.

Chiropractic has no contamination problems, no recalls, no death, no faked or commercialized research. And we don't care about any shortage of flu vaccine!

Donald E. Harte, a doctor of chiropractic in Corte Madera, is a governor of the World Chiropractic Alliance (www.worldchiropracticalliance.org).

GASTALD COMMENTS FURTHER:

Donald E. Harte, DC wrote:

"Chinese medicine and homeopathy...considered safer than establishment medicine...still rely on diagnosis and treatment...[Chiropractic]...is totally different, philosophically as well as practically..."

FACT: The first doctor of chiropractic relied on diagnosis and treatment and many still do – some diagnose non–spinal problems and treat/adjust non–spinally – via education. Doctors of all professional stripes do this.

"Chiropractic has no contamination problems, no recalls, no death, no faked or commercialized research. And we don't care about any shortage of flu vaccine!"

FACT: As any state licensing board will attest, chiropractic – like medicine – has "contamination problems."

Regarding Dr. Harte's "we don't care about any shortage of flu vaccine" comment – I personally do not take the flu vaccine – but I am sure there are doctors of chiropractic who do. I think that – like me – most DCs only oppose MANDATORY vaccination – esp. when MDs fraudulently promote their vaccines as being 100% effective – saying that during disease outbreaks they will keep all vaccinated children in school and only send home/protect vaccine exempt children. ALL children should go home/be protected during disease outbreaks because some children (no one knows who they are) are not

sci.med: Chiros and flu (and MD birth felonies)

immunized by their vaccinations. Vaccination is ATTEMPTED immunization. Vaccines are not 100% effective.

Finally, there is the matter of MDs being mostly ANTI-immunization.

MDs are failing to tell pregnant women that they scan for pathogens and manufacture IMMUNIZATIONS which they "inject" with their breasts DAILY. MDs are lying by omission thereby denying massive numbers of babies massive numbers of free daily immunizations. There is a kicker: These daily mother-administered immunizations (breastfeedings) reportedly make MD-needle vaccinations work better.

MDs are ignoring an eminently simple way of making the immunization/breastfeeding rate skyrocket. What woman – informed that she can immunize her baby DAILY – and make MD-needle vaccinations work better – is going to fail to at least ATTEMPT to breastfeed.

Loss of flu vaccinations this year pales in comparison to the annual loss of free daily immunizations caused by MDs lying by omission.

Thanks for reading,

Sincerely,

Todd

PS I almost forgot...

American medicine's most frequent surgical behavior toward males and females is also an obvious felony – the way it is performed – immediately after birth...

Immediate cord clamping affects "EVERY CESAREAN SECTION BABY" according to retired obstetrician George Malcolm Morley, MB ChB FACOG who writes of this obstetric insanity...

"[ACOG Practice Bulletin B138] was first published in 1993. Every cesarean section baby, every depressed child, every premie, and every child born with a neonatal team in the delivery room has its cord clamped immediately to facilitate the panicked rush to the resuscitation table. The current epidemic of immediate cord clamping coincides with an epidemic of autism."

This obvious felony of asphyxiating babies to "obtain cord blood pH studies" by robbing them of massive amounts of blood – is the obstetric standard of care!!!

Here is ACOG Practice Bulletin B138 (re-affirmed Feb 2002):

Chiros and flu (and MD birth felonies)

"...Immediately after delivery of the neonate, a segment of umbilical cord should be doubly clamped, divided, and placed on the delivery table pending assessment of the five minute Apgar score."

—1991 (re-affirmed Feb 2002) ACOG Committee opinion: Bulletin 138 – April 1994 (replaces #91, February 1991)

>From quotes compiled mainly by Eileen Simon from the Harvard Medical School Library <http://www.cordclamping.com/History.htm>

Here is a fuller excerpt of Dr. Morley's writing:

"ACOG's routine treatment (B138) of these depressed neonates is immediate cord clamping to obtain cord blood pH studies. The child's only functioning source of oxygen – the placenta – is amputated together with 30% to 50+% of its natural blood volume. Total asphyxia is imposed until the lungs function, and the depressed (asphyxiated, hypovolemic) child starts its extra-uterine life in hypovolemic shock...

"B138 was first published in 1993. Every cesarean section baby, every depressed child, every premie, and every child born with a neonatal team in the delivery room has its cord clamped immediately to facilitate the panicked rush to the resuscitation table. The current epidemic of immediate cord clamping coincides with an epidemic of autism.

"For the trial lawyers, it is essential that the 'true genesis' of cerebral palsy remains unknown, because that 'true genesis' (B.138) is a standard of medico-legal care..."

<http://www.cordclamping.com/acog-cp.htm>

George Morley, the retired OB quoted above – as valiant as he is – does not want to see child protection laws used to stop the mass baby asphyxiation he is exposing.

George and I disagree on this point...

Why would we NOT use laws designed to protect children – to protect children?

See Babies gasping: Michigan sheriffs to do "child abuse raid" on hospitals?

<http://health.groups.yahoo.com/group/chiro-list/message/2618>

MDs are robbing massive numbers of immune cells from babies – in addition to denying massive numbers of babies massive numbers of immunizations by lying by omission...

And this mass immunologic child abuse is on top of the mass physical child abuse by MDs (knowingly closing birth canals and keeping birth canals closed when babies get stuck; see above).

Hopefully the World Chiropractic Alliance (Dr. Harte is a governor) will soon address the mass immunologic child abuse and mass physical child abuse being committed by MDs. One last note: I am in favor of pardons in advance for MDs. MDs are just academic prime cuts forced through this culture's most powerful mental meatgrinder. As med students, MDs are TRAINED to perform obvious felonies.
