

Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med/2005-05/msg00474.html>

- From: jason@xxxxxxxxxx (Jason)
 - Date: Sun, 29 May 2005 09:31:20 -0700
-

In article <S33me.2478$2u1.1818@xx>, wright@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx (David Wright) wrote:

> In article <jason-2805051052510001@xx>, Jason <jason@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:
> > In article <42985adc$0$118$65c69314@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>, Tom Salls > > <noaddress@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:
> >
> >> jason@xxxxxxxxxx wrote:
> >> > I now realize that some people are really shocked when people don't know > >> > what every medication is used for or the meaning of every medical term.
> >> > I'll consider buying a medical dictionary so that various people don't > >> > have to get upset
> >>
> >> I think it's more that people are shocked that someone who doesn't > >> understand basic medical terms (or doesn't have enough sense to look > >> them up) is giving out medical advice to people who may assume that he > >> knows what he's talking about.
> >
> > It's great to be part of a newsgroup where everyone is a doctor or knows > > the meaning of all medical terms and knows what every medication is used > > for. It's a great place to get advice. I have noticed that no one responds > > to some of the people that request advice. Now I know the reason--people > > are afraid that people like you will tell them they should not try help > > people unless they are doctors.
>
> As usual, Jason, you have missed the point entirely. But I'll spell > it out for you:
>
> Don't give medical advice when you don't know what the hell you > are talking about.
>
> In your case, Jason, that's 100% of the time. You give reams of bad > advice, and you're too ignorant to KNOW that it's bad advice. Stop > doing it.
>
> -- David Wright :: alphabet@prodigy.net
> These are my opinions only, but they're almost always correct.
> "I don't need someone to tell me that George W. Bush is a

Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

> deceitful, corrupt, clever and destructive man—that's pretty > clear on the face of it." — Garrison Keillor

David,

Are you a doctor or nurse? If not—if we use your line of logic—none of us that are not doctors or nurses should ever give medical advice to people in any newsgroup. While working with doctors and nurses, I have seen them refer to the PDR many times. I also look at the PDR many times to figure out the information written on charts.

Jason

—

NEWSGROUP SUBSCRIBERS MOTTO

We respect those subscribers that ask for advice or provide advice.

We do NOT respect the subscribers that enjoy criticizing people.

.

• Follow-Ups:

◆ Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

◇ From: David Wright

◆ Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

◇ From: Tom Salls

• References:

◆ Safety of anal intercourse.

◇ From: Jim Spriggs

◆ Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

◇ From: Jason

◆ Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

◇ From: Tom Salls

◆ Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

◇ From: Jason

◆ Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

◇ From: David Wright

• Prev by Date: Re: Ribs

• Next by Date: Re: Ribs

• Previous by thread: Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

• Next by thread: Re: Safety of anal intercourse.

• Index(es):

◆ Date

◆ Thread