

Numb palm

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med/2005-06/msg00001.html>

- From: global_assassin@xxxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: 31 May 2005 15:37:43 -0700
-

I cut my wrist about 14 years ago while closing a glass window. I had to go to surgery and they put 3 stitiches in the cut and I was told I was lucky as I was 2cm from the Radial artery. I was also asked if all the glass had been removed which I replied yes though I wasn't sure. Since I had this accident the part of my hand which is just below the thumb (thenar muscle group) has always been numb but I am beginning to feel some pain. The pain isn't constant and it's not excrutiating I'm wondering if I should see the doctor or is it just something I have to live with due to damaged muscles? Thanks in advance.

.

- Prev by Date: re: How drug companies keep tabs on physicians
- Next by Date: Re: SGOT and SGPT ELEVATED
- Previous by thread: re: How drug companies keep tabs on physicians
- Next by thread: Re: SGOT and SGPT ELEVATED
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread