A male aged 54 yrs who is a known case of D Johnson syndrome has developed monoarthropathy of rt elbow jt causing severe restriction of flexion & extension & mild inflammatory signs. Severity of restriction changes drastically within few hours without any medication. All investigations including synovial biopsy are within normal limits. ESR is 50 mm/1st hour. There is no functional element involved. Arthropathy seems to be related temporally with GI disturbances & physical exhaustion. There is some amount of PC usage with mouse operations.
