

Re: Help ! Anybody knows solutions for progressive bulbar paralysis ?

Re: Help ! Anybody knows solutions for progressive bulbar paralysis ?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med/2006-08/msg00242.html>

- From: "Robert1" <Goldentouchman@xxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 22 Aug 2006 00:27:45 -0700
-

Xufei.Wang@xxxxxxxxx wrote:

Dears

My friend got such a disease – progressive bulbar paralysis recently, I am not a doctor, what I know is only the name of the disease – progressive bulbar paralysis, it seems serious. Now her tongue is becoming rigid, hard to swallow foods and water.

The doctor here suggested some traditional Chinese medicine and therapies.

But I am afraid it takes effect much slower, does anybody here know any medicine or therapy method I can get for that ?

Hope your help !!

wang

I am sorry to hear that. It might be a very aggressive form of Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis ALS. The Bulbar form is much quicker than the other forms and not many primary treatments for the disease. I hope I am wrong on that but that might be the name that we use here in the states. The other name is Lou Gherigs disease after a famous baseball player here that died of the disease.