Mine is better than all of those. Paid $550.

Basically, you are sleeping on something that is primarily designed for sitting on. In my limited experience they are uncomfortable whether you sit or sleep on them.

My personal opinion is that they are probably OK for occasional use but not suitable for sleeping on a regular basis.

I have knoww people, but young people though, sleeping on a much cheaper one regular basis. And he didn't even unfold it. I wouldn't sleep on regular basis.

The futon has been discribed in the media thus:

"An uncomfortable couch
that converts to an uncomfortable bed."
