The fact that you think you're right and various others are wrong about MCS doesn't make Hulda Clark an authority about anything.

Clumsy try at changing the subject, David; but nobody, except for the circle-jerk that is the medical-establishment, cares who's an 'authority'.

You seem to care very much.

Clumsy try at changing the subject.

Not at all. The subject remains that Stephen Barrett, M.D., is absurd and bizarre in decrying Hulda Clark's beliefs.

Not the "cure for all cancers" one.

[Southeast Asia is] where [Fasciolopsis buski] lives.

Why do you believe that?

Well, golly, how about because I've just checked quite a number of web sites, all of which agree on the matter. For example, the Cambridge University Schistosome Research Group.

In addition, this fluke is pretty damn large, you can see it with the unaided eye. If it were showing up all over the world, it's not as though the pathologists would have missed it.
