Here's a new bipedal personal transport concept vehicle made by Toyota:

I kinda like the look of it. It may look humble right now, but I see in it the beginnings of many Japanese animated sci-fi stories.

What they really need to add next are mechanical arms, for maintaining balance.

If nothing else, it could make for an excellent new spinoff of Robot Wars on Comedy Channel.

But ultimately, something like this could evolve into a new type of man-agile combat vehicle.
