I bought ZEMAX 5.5.1 around 1997, and received an upgrade disk for 6.0. These versions were intended for Windows 95, but I want to install 6.0 now on Windows 98SE (or any other operating system other than Win 95). I get an error message on installation in Windows 98SE, using either disk, and using the hardware lock that came with the software. Could anyone suggest anything I could try to get this software to install? I was thinking there might be some simple solution, like changing the LPT1 port settings. Thanks.
