Several years ago I exchanged some messages on this group about imaging through a glass window in the shutter of my observatory. I usually keep these, but in this case I've abandoned the computer they were saved on. Is there some way to search the group back in 2000-1?

Gives a start, then put in something from the original post, the more the better.

Good. Thanks. Found some of it. How does one generally find and search a group? I may have posted in sci.astro or sci.physics too.
