[Hammond]

Thqat's the complaint of a sore loser.

The only statement of what God is that is "pedantically correct" is the 13 page scientific explanation, which of course he is UNABLE TO READ because of a lack of scientific qualifications.

Then.... when he asks me to "put it in simple language"... he then turns around and starts arguing that "common ideomatic language is pedantically inaccurate".

OBVIOUSLY McDermid is just "debating addict" who makes "argument" a full time profession... and actually could care less whether there is a God or isn't a God.
