

Re: Diffraction Angle form a Moving Grating.

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2004-11/0118.html>

---

From: Henri Wilson (H_at_..(Henri))

Date: 10/31/04

Date: Sun, 31 Oct 2004 22:13:43 GMT

On Sun, 31 Oct 2004 11:23:40 +0100, YBM <ybmess@noos.fr> wrote:

>Henri Wilson a écrit :

>> I am not confused at all. Starlight consists of weak but identifiable spectral >> lines (both emission an absorption) superimpopsed on white light.

>

>I love this Halloween fumble : starlight spectra is composed of >frequencies which are not part of starlight spectra.

>

>> Obviously you have never been associated with a physics laboratory.

>

>Were you ? Were you good at cleaning the toilets ?

Aha! Moron has just take the overall lead in the "who is the most purile SRian" competition.

HW.

www.users.bigpond.com/hewn/index.htm