

Re: Einstein ever defined TIME?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2004-11/1621.html>

From: Paul B. Andersen (paul.b.andersen_at_hia.no)

Date: 11/08/04

Date: Mon, 8 Nov 2004 23:28:09 +0100

"Henri Wilson" <H@..> skrev i melding news:evvno0p5rt2rcjflultn70dgd331h11mv3@4ax.com...

> On Fri, 5 Nov 2004 16:32:19 +0100, "Paul B. Andersen" <paul.b.andersen@hia.no> > wrote:

> >OK, Henri.

> >I have had my fun, and I don't think I will bother to > >play with you any more in this thread.

> >

> >Your definition of "time" is meaningless babble, and cannot > >be the issue of a meaningful discussion.

> >You didn't think I took this "discussion" seriously, did you? :-)

> >Your definition of you indefinable time is too stupid for that.

>

> Paul, I realise that you cannot understand anything that is not in a book.

Quite.

As opposed to you, I can understand what are in books.

Paul