

Re: My mistake on Time Dilation?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2005-02/2651.html>

---

From: Eric Gisse (jowr.pi\_at\_gmail.com)

Date: 02/11/05

Date: 11 Feb 2005 09:35:46 -0800

guskz@hotmail.com wrote:

[snip]

You need to understand that the act of accelerating breaks the symmetry of the situation – the reference frames can no longer be compared except instantaneously.

<http://www.geocities.com/slithytove5/AccelClocks.htm>

This page is the geocities equivalent of finding a diamond in a pile of shit.

Don't post again about accelerated reference frames until you understand what you are talking about.