

Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2005-05/msg01681.html>

- From: shuba <tim.shuba@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 22 May 2005 14:10:18 -0500
-

Curious wrote:

- > IF a physics theory – correctly expressed – predicts a
- > logical contradiction, (i.e. something which cannot be true), the
- > theory cannot be true.

Good luck finding a logical contradiction in semi-Riemannian geometry.

[..]

- > My main point is that this is not a 'self-constructed wall of
- > ignorance' on the side of philosophy, but if there is such a wall, it
- > is on the side of such physicists.

It's neither. The wall is entirely your own creation.

- > We have nothing to fear from the truth. It is the truth we seek. By
- > observation, by hypothesis, by reason. By all of these.

I see. And which of those processes have you so far found lacking among physicists? The tacit assumption that physicists don't use reason and therefore have created illogical theories is nothing more than a vicious slur.

---Tim Shuba---

.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light
 - ◇ From: Curious
- References:
 - ◆ SR Postulate on Speed of Light
 - ◇ From: john_doe_ph_d
 - ◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: Harry

◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: Curious

◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: harry

◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: Curious

◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: harry

◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: Curious

◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: shuba

◆ Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light

◇ From: Curious

- Prev by Date: Re: Does GR explain why orbiting clocks lose time
- Next by Date: Re: Lorentz contraction.
- Previous by thread: Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light
- Next by thread: Re: SR Postulate on Speed of Light
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread