

Re: This is What Einstein Actually Did.

Re: This is What Einstein Actually Did.

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2006-06/msg01680.html>

- From: Phineas T Puddleduck <phineaspuddleduck@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 28 Jun 2006 00:05:39 +0100
-

In article <2CioG.10437$5U4.10341@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>, Henry Haapalainen <kirppu@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

Einstein discovered that an attraction between masses is a wrong idea. It is a significant discovery. Falling objects are in free fall because of the curvature of space. Then he made mistakes in trying to explain that.

Henry Haapalainen

Yet for all your idiotic posting, you have not once proven that general relativity is not an accurate model of reality.

I asked this of you months ago and you simply refused. (EG)

Obviously you can't understand it, but here it is once again:

<http://www.wakkanet.fi/~fields/>

Henry Haapalainen

Yep, GR is an accurate model. Just your interpretation of it is bollocks.

You're actually PROUD of that website? I'd only recommend it to people under the auspices of 100 things idiots think physics involves

—
The greatest enemy of science is pseudoscience.

Re: This is What Einstein Actually Did.

Re: This is What Einstein Actually Did.

Jaffa cakes. Sweet delicious orangey jaffa goodness, and an abject lesson why parroting information from the web will not teach you cosmology.

Official emperor of sci.physics, head mumbler of the "Cult of INSANE SCIENCE". Please pay no attention to my butt poking forward, it is expanding.

Relf's Law?

"Bullshit repeated to the limit of infinity asymptotically approaches the odour of roses."

.