

Re: twins versus quanta collapse

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2007-03/msg02101.html>

- From: "Jeckyl" <noone@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 27 Mar 2007 10:08:12 +1000
-

"beda pietanza" <beda-pietanza@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message <news:1174939618.434774.270320@xx>

c)The collapse of the wave function a) is instantly transferred to the other particle/photon.

Just checking .. by 'instantly' due you mean at the same time, and if so, in which frame of reference? And does that then mean in other frames of reference they will be non-simultaneous and so the effect can end up preceding the cause?