I am not your father
confessor.

I sure hope not. I never asked you to be.

You don't need to tell me anything. I have a lousy shoulder for crying on, as I keep trying to fix things.
We can't fix each other, but I can't tell my heart this.

I'm not looking for a shoulder to cry on. I never have and I never will. Only I can solve my problems. I was going to give you information so you've

have an accurate answer to your question and perhaps understand why I do what I do.

It isn't important for me to know.

It was you who asked the question.

Review the thread. I made a statement. I assumed a question.

Your motivation is your only "free will". I just hate to see someone responding when someone else is acting like a jerk.

This is the part that requires me sending the rest of the original post. I'll e–mail it to you. It'd be nice just to have someone say "Ah ha! I understand now." I'm not expecting you to agree, just to understand. It can't hurt so you seem honest enough not to use it against me. Check your e–mail.

Later today.

It won't change them, it won't improve your
"appearance", and it won't make you stronger.

Me being stronger is addressed in the e–mail

If you have to be here (for whatever reason), and you can't take (much of) a certain kind of person,
use your kill file.

Impossible with Retic and hence how this conversation started.

Actually, no. The claim was that this was an incarnation of Varney, who usually keeps the same nym for several months. I actually find him helpful from time to time... but that is me.

You're saying that Varney is Retic?

<http://groups.google.com/group/sci.physics.relativity/msg/8329cbe051da7e8f>
... you were saying to Traveller that you hoped Varney was not posting again. That is where this started.

It says more for you and your personal growth if you can not feel compelled to play the game on their terms.

Does any more need to be said? If so, send me an email. We first spoke by email some years ago, before your "first" bout with Bilge. You didn't listen to me then, and I suspect I can still not help you.

I don't recall looking for your help. I believe I was simply letting you know why I was doing something.

I am not important. Don't make me so.

Everyone is important here who is a decent person. If I can get one less people to stop questioning the reasons for particular responses then I've made my life that much better.

Why do you feel you have to manipulate me or anyone else? If you don't like the question, don't answer or acknowledge it. Your motivations are your own problem.

Why do you call this "manipulation"?? Never mind. I'll just remeber your response here and never explain anything again. But I don't manipulate. If I believe that some is curious or irritated by my posting habits then there are times when I'll clarify so they are no longer curious. That is not manipulation.

Killfile Varney if you don't like who you are when dealing with him.

He doesn't post here anymore. If he was then he'd be insulting my by now.

Then I guess you answered your own question.

Best wishes
