

Re: 9.8m/sec^2 Coordinate Acceleration in GR

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2007-07/msg00162.html>

- From: "Pmb" <someone@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 2 Jul 2007 20:24:23 -0400
-

"bz" <bz+spr@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:Xns9961653A69A6DWQAHBGMXSZHVspammote@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

"Pmb" <someone@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in news:9fCdnRGkILToNRXbnZ2dnUVZ_tWhnZ2d@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx:

"shuba" <tim.shuba@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:tim.shuba-09A6D6.00500602072007@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

Sam Wormley wrote:

Come on Pete, LOOSEN UP!

Pmb seems intent on attempting to project the extreme hatred in his heart upon others.

---Tim Shuba---

Because I asked Tom Roberts to stop yelling per established nettiquette?
Exagering a little are we shuba?

Typing one or two words in caps is NOT considered to be yelling, it is one of the proper ways to indicate emphasis. There are other ways to emphasis words also. The author has the choice of how s/he wishes to emphasis specific words.

Some people don't yell every word when they are yelling. I know a very long time ago, if I was going to raise my voice for emphasis it wouldn't be for

Re: 9.8m/sec² Coordinate Acceleration in GR

everyword. I assumed that's what roberts was doing. You know what though? This problem would never have existed if Tom answered my question years ago by saying "I use that for emphasis and not for yelling or raising my voice." But instead he ignored me.

When dealing with others on usenet, it is considered 'good manners' to overlook small transgressions and spelling errors, ..

How about you getting Androcles to understand that. Then again he uses it as an excuse to insult my intelligence and swear at me and not because I made an error spelling.

..only correcting someone when they wrongly "correct" others repeatedly or are particularly offensive
in how they make their corrections.

I totally agree. I rarely if ever correct someone's spelling, especially since I'm almost 90% positive I have dyslexia so I'd be a fool to attempt to correct others. Ah well. I'll know more soon enough. I took a battery of tests because of serious problems I was having with memory. Perhaps if that is cured then I won't have this spelling problem.

Best wishes and thanks for the advice

Pete

.