That link works for me, after undoing the linefeed.

I have no idea why you associated my name with that page (at the bottom) -- I had nothing to do with it (I wrote only the page on experiments, to which I'll send an update within a week or two). At the top it says it was written by Michael Weiss -- I believe he occasionally participates in sci.physics.research, so I suggest you re–post your notice there.

[I have not had time to consider your technical questions.]
