Dear Newsgroup:

I have been practicing my NEW EXACT MATH since about my Ph.D. degree in 1979 (at Cambridge) i.e. more than quarter century.

The backlash on this kind of mathematics is due to many factors in math community.

This kind of mathematics is difficult and time consuming for current establishment to gain their positions as leaders.

The kind of mathematics is practiced is mainly highly abstract (particularly on pure mathematics domain) and I believe it has been depreciated in terms of its usefulness.

Thus the main focus of the leaders has been for decads to promote and provide grants to those systematically enhance their kind of research in variety of forms such as seminars publications etc.

Current establishment in mathematics is powered by those whom are within the groups viewed in Germany during 1933-45 as inferior peoples .

Their mathematics and science was also labeled inferior mathematics and science as well as arts.

Unfortunately the characteristics of such peoples rest on history (particularly the last three centuries) and the actions of current establishment in mathematics or science only increases the chance of history repeat itself faster evolving those events.

There was accusations leveled by Germany leaders in that period that number of lawyers, theater directors and academic had reached extremity high, and they managed to organize German sentiments against those labeled as inferior peoples.

Although Nazis exaggerated figures and unfortunately events like Holocaust eventually followed.

Inferior mathematics and science

I see that some restrictions are bound to happen in activities of those called inferior peoples in all sorts of levels of the society.

Ranging from political appointments, education leaders, the media, and particularly their activities in academia and major political world positions (also their involvement in arranging political leaders).

This will be essential to hopefully contain any nuclear war events in the future or Holocaust (as its sever consequences).

Unfortunately nuclear missiles developments and placing them around the world will not be the solution.

Their centuries old positions in the history has not been cleared and never will be and the only solution will be to educate and persuade current leaders of coming from so called inferior groups, to watch their actions and be moderate and natural in their status.

Since they had gone too far and we had seen 50 million dead in World War II.

By systematically hiring of less qualified people in academia (such as Msc. Preferred over Ph.D.) and arranging opposition to professors by actions like student evaluation, publications, institutes of research (controlled in one direction), only creates a real vacuum in academy and will substantially increase the chance of backlash by the general public (uncontrolled by politicians) with disastrous consequences.

Thus whether they like it or not, it is time for leaders of those inferior groups of the past to persuade their colleagues to evacuate their positions of power voluntarily and reduce it to a moderate means.

They need to wake up now! I hold the current math establishment responsible for blocking the advancements of my NEW EXACT MATH.
