

Re: An interesting "relativity" statement

Re: An interesting "relativity" statement

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics.relativity/2009-03/msg01924.html>

---

- From: "Androcles" <Headmaster@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Wed, 25 Mar 2009 02:58:55 -0000
-

"Black Eyed Susan" <blackeyedsusan@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:20090324193620.164\$d4@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

George Hammond <Nowhere1@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

On 24 Mar 2009 17:34:28 GMT, danfromboston2@xxxxxxxxxx(Dan From Boston) wrote:

My wife works in a large office building with a security guard near the door. He has had the hots for her for a long time.

Recently, when my wife entered the building, the guard sidled up to her and whispered, "The sun is getting closer to the universe."

I wondered if this man could be George Hammond (or Androcoles or Pentcho or any number of others).

[Hammond]
How cum I'm first on the list for chrissakes?

Because you're the top kook in a newsgroup made up almost entirely of kooks, asswipe.

And you are the top arsewipe in a newsgroup made up almost entirely of arsewipes, kook.

Change your name again, I've got plenty of room for my kill file.

*plonk*

Do not reply to this generic message, it was automatically generated;

Re: An interesting "relativity" statement

Re: An interesting "relativity" statement

you have been kill-filed, either for being boringly stupid, repetitive, unfunny, ineducable, repeatedly posting politics, religion or off-topic subjects to a sci. newsgroup, attempting free advertising or because you are a troll; any reply will go unread.

Boringly stupid is the most common cause of kill-filing, but because this message is generic the other reasons have been included. You are left to decide which is most applicable to you.

There is no appeal, I have despotic power over whom I will electronically admit into my home and you do not qualify as a reasonable person I would wish to converse with or even poke fun at.

This should not trouble you, many of those plonked find it a blessing that they are not required to think and can persist in their bigotry or crackpot theories without challenge.

You have the right to free speech, I have the right not to listen. The kill-file will be cleared annually with spring cleaning or whenever I purchase a new computer or hard drive.

I hope you find this explanation is satisfactory but even if you don't, damnly my frank, I don't give a dear. Have a nice day.

.