Two presenters of a "scientific" France 2 (public TV channel) programme, publish a forgery on the Internet

Subjects to a polemic as for the scientific contents of their emission "Rayons-X" and their book "Before the Big-bang" published at Grasset in 2004, the Igor and Grichka Bogdanov brothers answered some of the critics by publishing on September 28, 2004 a reproduction of a print of their work where the presence of quotation marks around a word would significantly attenuate the impact of an elementary scientific error.

A surface analysis of the image, and the presence of a file in the Adobe Photoshop picture editing software format on the same personal site of Igor Bogdanov (<http://igor.bogdanov.free.fr/>) prove that it is a make-up produced with this same software originating from a copy of the accused page where quotation marks were added manually.

All the details are available in French and English on the Web site "Épiphysique": <http://www.epiphysique.org/presse/fauxbogdanov-fr.html> and <http://www.epiphysique.org/presse/fauxbogdanov-en.html>
