sci.physics: Re: The Cost of Relativity

Your web site tells far more about you, than it does about the folks,
whose articles are featured on your web site.

IT tells that you have an inferiority complex and try to stroke your ego by trying to slander other folks.

And it shows that you target certain folks, (Probably because they have exposed your "fumbles" in an open forum, rather than in a personal web page.)
and imply that particular posts, which may or not be informative and valid, are "Fumbles" by virtue of the fact that they are referenced on your site.

For example, I see that you reference two of my posts which make reference to my position, that it makes more sense to get information from "The horse's mouth, rather from a horse's ass."

Of course, it may be that you actually believe that a "horse's ass" is the best source of information, and that you are striving to be the best source.

And it shows that you are cowardly, and need the security of people with psychological problems similar to yours.

Perhaps you will prove me wrong by posting a few references to some of the so-called "fumbles" made by the other posters in sci.physics, who, like you, habitually stroke their egos
by attacking other folks.

I will be anxiously looking forward to seeing your references to some of these "fumbles".
