Sometimes you need to speak a certain groups language to open up effective communications.

No adhomens this time.

You cock knockers can have all your reports and commissions full of acronyms, they don't means shit. The ASCE reports by the BPAT are flawed in many ways.

Regardless, these reports don't explain what happened on 9/11, they try to explain the results of the 9/11 incident, failing miserably.

The 9/11 Commission is a whitewash, leaving out serious flaws in the current system caused by other cock knockers who are traitorous slime. The recommendations given are flawed because they don't mention these individuals and the consequences from their actions or inaction's. Some have of course been promoted for their fine job. So you can go tell all the victims families that there loved ones died by the hands of their own governments actions/inaction's and the few who dared to pursue accountability and change so that it couldn't happen again have been shit on.

You dumbed down fucks are as much of the problem.
