

Re: SEM question/advice, best FE SEM?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2004-09/10225.html>

From: Kevin Cunningham (smskjd_at_mindspring.com)

Date: 09/28/04

Date: 28 Sep 2004 16:31:17 GMT

SEM is not my forte but (the famous "but") the manufacturer might be less important than the service. I would ask who in your neighborhood has the best service, both price and techs?

Kevin

"Dev Null" <devnull@foo.bar> wrote in message
news:cjaicl0ia8@enews3.newsguy.com...

>

> Hello,

>

> My company wants to buy a high resolution SEM. I've looked briefly > at Zeiss, Hitachi, and JEOL.

>

> I've been told that FE is the way to go but cold FE isn't worth the > trouble.

>

> We will be looking at a wide variety of samples, especially > photoresist on silicon wafers.

>

> I've used a JEOL-35C and a Hitachi 3500H.

>

> I would appreciate any suggestions on manufacturers or models.

>

> Thanks

>