

sci.physics: Re: With no ISP, the Qwest DSL line charge would only be 15 USD per month.

Re: With no ISP, the Qwest DSL line charge would only be 15 USD per month.

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2005-01/4271.html>

From: Keith (gamers_at_r.lamers)

Date: 01/11/05

Date: Tue, 11 Jan 2005 15:41:52 GMT

jmbahciv@aol.com wrote:

> In article <d0SEd.1240$eT5.382@attbi_s51>,
> Sam Wormley <swormley1@mchsi.com> wrote:
>>Jeff_Relf wrote:
>>
>>> The Qwest DSL line charge, if I could have no ISP, >>> would only be 15 USD per month: <http://www.ncplusdsl.net/>
>>>
>>
>> Without an ISP, you have no address... no connection
>
> That fifteen bucks can't be a line charge. It sounds more > like the Al Gore taxes.

Hi,

I'm Keith.

Anything for $15 is a bargain.

Even if it provides no functionality, I wouldn't want to miss out.

Are you selling these?

What's your E-bay Seller ID ?

Sincerely,
Keith !

>
> But now I've heard everything..selling a virtual line with > no functionality. The telephone industry will soon be selling > us dreams without all the nuts and bolts that comes in comm gear.
>
> Now I understand that mystery.

Re: With no ISP, the Qwest DSL line charge would only be 15 USD per month.

sci.physics: Re: With no ISP, the Qwest DSL line charge would only be 15 USD per month.

>

> /BAH

>

>

> Subtract a hundred and four for e-mail.

--

<http://kentpsychedelic.blogspot.com/>
incognito, updated almost daily