

Re: You can never disprove relativity

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2005-01/7399.html>

---

From: Androcles (dummy_at_dummy.net)

Date: 01/19/05

Date: Wed, 19 Jan 2005 18:35:58 GMT

"glbrad01" <glbrad01@insightbb.com> wrote in message
news:UttHd.11917$P04.9441@attbi_s03...

> I get a kick now out of those who try to disprove "relativity"

> forgetting relativity is invariantly relative.

Relatively invariantly stupid compared to its believers, yes, I agree.

Actually anyone trying to disprove nonsense doesn't know what they are doing.

The burden of proof is upon the claimant.

Androcles.

>

> -----

>

> Clem: "I observe them thar mountains off in the distance are blue! Do > you observe the same blueness to them thar mountains?"

>

> Claude: "Yep, they sure are a partty blue color."

>

> Clem: "I now have imparacal evdence them mountains thar in the > distance are blue. Ain't no need to go to them to varfy what is so > self-evdent."

>

> Claude: "Nope, any fool can see thar blue. And any fool who travels > to those mountains will sartainly turn blue besides becoming vera > Lilaputiian in size. Pracically a point. Dun know what my wife and > kiddies would say if I come home blue and a point."

>

> -----

>

>