

Re: Postulate #2: Time Dilation

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2005-02/8455.html>

From: Eric Gisse (jowr.pi_at_gmail.com)

Date: 02/17/05

Date: 17 Feb 2005 07:36:17 -0800

g...@hotmail.com wrote:

> Postulate #2:

>

> Plane leaves an Inertial Reference Frame Platform and reaches a > constant velocity of $c/3$, travels a certain distance and then returns > to the Platform.

>

> *Time dilated during acceleration becomes less and less a relevant > factor to the plane's TOTAL time dilation the FURTHER the Planes > travels.*

Your postulate is useless, much like yourself.