

Re: This is best sentence I wrote, just share it Bill Gates, the Pol Pot of computing : I deserve a medal, a price for this :-)

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2005-03/0357.html>

reader_at_newsguy.com

Date: 02/28/05

Date: Mon, 28 Feb 2005 14:21:41 -0600

"Greysky" <greyskynospam@sbcglobal.net> writes:

> *"Jan Panteltje" <pNaonStpealmtje@yahoo.com> wrote in message > news:1109600589.ed85167198413fe8587f2c9771055199@teranews...
>> From an other post:
>>
>> MS windows for me will stay that pay for every mouseclick kids stuff.
>> Yep.
>> And with DRM coming you will have to pay every time you watch, a communist >> idea to disallow private property (of music), by the Pol Pot of computing, >> a Bill Gates.
>> I will have to hang on to this DRM free box, it may be valuable in the >> future.
>> Once they F*ck up the hardware, use the old PC from the attic, do not >> throw >> it out.
>> If you know your stuff.
>> Ok, my view on transcoding
>>
>>
> I hope you kept your old IX DVD drive. It is the only one without the DRM > chip inside it. All others will not output a clean video signal of an > encoded movie DVD. The old DVD ROM will let you copy anything...*

Someone from the linux world either has or will reverse engineer the process and figure out how to outsmart it. We have some really heavy gauge tinkerers in every phase of comp related development.