Woman dont talk to me , until you answer the question. Would you kill atta or let thousands die by default . We atheists have been too nice to religious nuts for too long as they get away with making us feel guilty about Jesus . If he was god he could have turned off his pain nerves . If he did then he didnt suffer anything for us , if he didnt then he is a masochist and not worth praying too and the same for his father God who could have turned off his pain nerves.

Belief in God is the same as belief in father Xmas , most humans grow out of it apart from some immature ones. And answer the question about atta
