

Re: Agh.. Buoyancy?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2005-07/msg01096.html>

- From: "CWatters" <colin.watters@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 13 Jul 2005 06:13:28 GMT
-

"Izkata" <Izkata@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

<news:pYedneBu0ZLTM0nfRVn-rw@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

> Well, my physics teacher from last year didn't cover Buoyancy very well.

I

> barely remember any of it – and need to know it for the summer packet and > next year. I plan on digging out my notes tomorrow, but with how disjointed > my current memory of it is, I don't think it will have all I need.

>

> Does anyone know any –good– websites for fluids, pressure, and buoyancy?

> Ones that, hopefully, will include examples and problems to try? I've tried > with Google, but I can't find them (if they even exist).

Perhaps..

<http://www.du.edu/~jcalvert/tech/fluids/hydstat.htm>

<http://science.howstuffworks.com/question254.htm>

.

• References:

◆ Agh.. Buoyancy?

◇ From: Izkata

• Prev by Date: Agh.. Buoyancy?

• Next by Date: W. Nahm's Conformal Field Theory: A Bridge Over Troubled Waters

• Previous by thread: Agh.. Buoyancy?

• Next by thread: Re: Agh.. Buoyancy?

• Index(es):

◆ Date

◆ Thread