Hey, Ziggie! We've got some quartz results coming out this coming week.

China does not have a Baby Boomer retirement disaster aborning. They will easily ride out major economic implosion of all Europe and the

Re: "Ph.D.s in America on the decline"

Boomer retirement–triggered $trillion US social Welfare disaster, both due by 2015 (a wag would say 21 December 2012, and take Christmas early that year). A beautiful thing about economic ascendancy is that even the corrupt get corrupted. Chinese government will reform in imperceptible steps simply because sustainable power radiates from economics not brute politics. When folks have something to lose they either voluntarily learn manners or they put it all on the line. "Freedom's just another word for nothing left to lose." Fairly let mortgages and money in the bank dull revolutions.

North Korea saber–rattles the West and round–eye girlie idiots mess their panties. If North Korea bares its withered buttocks toward China it will go home without any ass at all. China is a masculine society. China extirpates its enemies.

That China turns its back on feminist, Luddite, Enviro–whiner, social advocate, compassionate, and godly bullshit is its great winning strength. China will sit by a river waiting and, within a decade, the bodies of its competitors will be abundantly floating by. If you wish to survive retirement in Japan, you had better have accumulated wealth on your own nickel. These are not weak societies stinking of soured breast milk while mobs of pampered defectives bleat for more. They will chortle to themselves as rotted fruit disintegrates.
