

Re: Is time dilation real?

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2006-01/msg02925.html>

---

- From: Sam Wormley <swormley1@xxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Wed, 25 Jan 2006 23:34:19 GMT
-

Spaceshit wrote:

I have never stated the clocks are not as good as they could be right now.
I merely stated you have no actualy physical cause of why they malfunctioned and you also have no clue what timing things is all about.

All physical processes are in effect clocks, spaceshit. And they faithfully mark the passage of time. It is the time, itself that is malleable... a ramification of the postulates in A. Einstein's 1905 paper on electrodynamics. See:
<http://www.fourmilab.ch/etexts/einstein/specrel/www/>