

Re: Article unifies the four forces

The problem is that most people worship Newton and Einstein, and as "G" and "C" are associated with these persons, this obscures most people's reasoning, and perpetuates a large set of misconceptions and distortions, such as gravity waves, photons, worm holes, warped spaces, time travel, the complementary principle, etc.

Aristotle sent science on a 1500 year detour.
Hopefully, Newton and Einstein will not do the same.

..... self aggrandizing, senile and delusional you have become now also in your physics, just like you did in your politics, Tom. You've just have shown your true capabilities:... That you are a master in fucking up your own potential. ... Here, for example, you did it to your originally novel and promising idea that you had. This was pointed out to you by (not only me) but by quite a number of other posters, (Sam is excluded here, since there is that special, warm and loving relationship between the two of you) yet undaunted you marched ahead and proceeded with its self destruction... Can't you see, Tom, that it's your clinically bloated ego that produces your own sad and sub standard peddler efforts which will destroy any & all potential fruits of your labor, such that at best, and with mountains of luck, you will end up as a foot note that may say: "Tom Potter anticipated this potential but he did not realize....." ... ahahaha... and it was you alone, Tom, who instigated and engineered your tragic ending...
OTOH, AFAIC, the produce of your pathologically obese ego is really deliciously funny... Thanks again for the laughs, Tom ... ahahahaha... ahahahanson

BTW: Your sad story here is reminiscent of a mini side show running after the debacle of uncle Al's oqn "River of shit"... ahaha... who too can expect at best, and with mountains of luck, to end up as a foot note that may say: "Alan Schwartz anticipated this potential but he did not realize, that....." ...ahahahaha.....
