

Re: Constants

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2006-03/msg02053.html>

---

- From: "Spaceman" <Realspace@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sat, 18 Mar 2006 11:52:39 -0500
-

"Cam Jones" <onespiritedgal93@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:1142700441.751775.312610@xx

I do not know. I am trying to come to a conclusion regarding this matter, and I hope you will help me.

The biggest question is ...
How could lightspeed ignore the relative speed of observers?
Nothing else in the universe can do such, why would we allow such with lightspeed?