So what happens if these guys...

go back intime and get stuck there?

Well I am told and we in our family and network of friends are told and Hanuman tells me the same thing, that then Zeus will go back and rescue you.

And you can interpret that to mean any number of things such as the universal government of the future perhaps, manages all those things, and will rescue time travellers and does set rules such as non interference with other civilizations by _outsiders.

That may not apply to those who die there and are reincarnated.

(At least I am banking on that one as are some of my friends lol)
