I think your first impression was right. I have the same.
So-called physicists on the public newsgroups have consistently

Re: Are physicists arrogant ?

been bad-mannered and generally condescending ever since the sci.physics forum came on line.

I cannot think of a single working physicist who has ever acted this way.

That's why I specified "so-called physicists".

Telling somebody that s/he is wrong and needs to study more is not condescending.

Of course not. But that's not what Stan apparently was referring to, and neither I. From your handle, I seem to recall that you have been here a long time also. So you know very well what I am talking about.

I have been reading here for a while. I also know very well what you are talking about.

I can't imagine a top notch physicist being so little interested
