

Re: Trying to find some space for research paper.

Re: Trying to find some space for research paper.

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2006-08/msg00923.html>

- From: "Sorcerer" <Headmaster@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 16 Aug 2006 13:32:02 GMT
-

"Felix of The North" <schmuckinitup@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:5tudnTpiM_017X_ZnZ2dnUVZ_tWdnZ2d@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
|> Yeah – I know. The idea does seem completely half baked, and even a bit
|> stupid. But hey – I'm not a professional academic, so I dont really have
| all
|> that much to gain from getting published anyway, and it might be kind of
|> fun. Besides – would'nt it be a kick in the ass to look back one day and
| say
|> "Once upon a time, when UseNet was still quite young, some loonie amateurs
|> created a paper and actually got uit published" –
|>
|>
|> gotta run – the wife
|
|
| – whew–
|
| close call.....
|
| anyhow – yeah – vandalism would be a pain in the ass, but I think that it's | possible, so I'm going to try to set up a blog where we can put some things
| down and try to keep things organized.
|
| I have no problem inventing wacky ideas – but I have no access whatsoever to
| a real library. I can search PROLA, but there is a ton of stuff out there
| which only exists on paper somewhere.
|
| I'll let you know where the blog is as soon as I set it up.
|
| A. Cubiq

As I said, have fun.

Re: Trying to find some space for research paper.