British professor foresees day when most people will be implanted with computer chips.

By Don Melvin

READING, England – In "Casino Royale," the latest James Bond movie, Bond is implanted with a microchip that allows headquarters to track his whereabouts and monitor his vital signs.

If a British cybernetics expert is right, the day will come when most people are implanted with chips – and the real-life chips will do a lot more than Bond's does.

Kevin Warwick, a professor of cybernetics at the University of Reading, has firsthand knowledge. In 1998, he had a chip surgically inserted into his left arm, becoming, he thinks, the first human ever implanted with a computer chip.

Since then, he's had a more sophisticated chip connected directly to his nervous system. He is still working toward his grandest experiment: having a chip implanted in his brain.

"I want to become a cyborg," he said with an infectious grin. "I can see the advantages."

Journal of Discourses, Vol.8, Pg.129, Brigham Young, July 22, 1860:

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

My brother Joseph, before "Mormonism" came to us, was a man of sad heart, seeking to find in the Bible the principles of eternal life. He once said to me, "Brother Brigham, there are no Bible Christians upon the face of the earth, and I do not see any possible escape for the human family. According to the writings of the Old and New Testaments, all must go to perdition." I do not suppose that he had a smile on his countenance for years. I said to him, "You and I believe in God and in the Bible. We suppose the Bible to be true, or at least the most of it. I admit it to be true, and admit that there is a God. We have always been taught so, and that we have a just God, if we have any. I believe in a just, holy, equitable Being; and if the Gospel is not on the earth, my feelings are to do about the best I can; and when I am through, I shall be in the hands of the same God in whose hands I have been all the time, and I will risk it. I did not produce myself—I did not cause my existence. A being superior to me has done this; and if I do as well as I know how, I will then risk all in his hands, and be perfectly contented and satisfied. I shall go with a cheerful countenance, and shall pass through the world as cheerfully as I can, making the best of it." But there was more or less of a gloom over my feelings from the earliest days of my childhood that I have in any recollection, until I heard the everlasting Gospel declared by the servants of God—until I heard men testify, by the power of the Holy Ghost, that the Book of Mormon is true, that Joseph Smith is a true Prophet of the Lord, who had revealed the holy Priesthood from heaven, had established his Church, was going to gather Israel, and was coming to judgment. Under that preaching the gloom vanished, and has not since troubled me for a moment.

PSALM 90

A Prayer of Moses the man of God.

1 LORD, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations.

2 Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou [art] God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction; and sayest, Return, ye children of men.

(Old Testament | Psalms 90:1 – 3)

Journal of Discourses, Vol.9, Pg.226 – Pg.227 – Pg.228, Wilford Woodruff, July 15, 1855:

When the Priesthood was restored, and the light of truth burst in upon my mind, I knew then that if it were not for the Israelites the Gentiles might go to hell and be damned. The Lord would not take much pains with us anyhow, were it not for the promised seed.

10 And now behold, this I speak unto their seed, and also to the Gentiles who have care for the house of Israel, that realize and know from whence their blessings come.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

11 For I know that such will sorrow for the calamity of the house of Israel; yea, they will sorrow for the destruction of this people; they will sorrow that this people had not repented that they might have been clasped in the arms of Jesus.

(Book of Mormon | Mormon 5:10 – 11)

4 ¶ Remember ye the law of Moses my servant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Israel, [with] the statutes and judgments.

5 ¶ Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:

6 And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

(Old Testament | Malachi 4:4 – 6)

Journal of Discourses, Vol.1, Pg.88 – Pg.89, Brigham Young, June 13th, 1852:

Brother Ames has said that "'Mormonism' will progress." If it does not, God will be dethroned, for when He undertakes to do anything, it will be done, notwithstanding every opposing influence. When the wicked have power to blow out the sun, that it shines no more; when they have power to bring to a conclusion the operations of the elements, suspend the whole system of nature, and make a footstool of the throne of the Almighty, they may then think to check "Mormonism" in its course, and thwart the unalterable purposes of heaven. Men may persecute the people who believe its doctrines, report and publish lies to bring tribulation upon their heads, earth and hell may unite in one grand league against it, and exert their malicious powers to the utmost, but it will stand as firm and immovable in the midst of it all as the pillars of eternity. Men may persecute the Prophet, and those who believe and uphold him, they may drive the Saints and kill them, but this does not affect the truths of "Mormonism" one iota, for they will stand when the elements melt with fervent heat, the heavens are wrapt up like a scroll, and the solid earth is dissolved. "Mormonism" stands upon the eternal basis of omnipotence. Jehovah is the "Mormonism" of this people, their Priesthood and their power; and all who adhere to it, will, in the appointed day, come up into the presence of the King Eternal, and receive a crown of life.

6 And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people,

7 Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

8 And there followed another angel, saying, Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication.

9 And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive [his] mark in his forehead, or in his hand,

10 The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb:

11 And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name.

(New Testament | Revelation 14:6 – 11)

28 ¶ Come unto me, all [ye] that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

29 Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls.

30 For my yoke [is] easy, and my burden is light.

(New Testament | Matthew 11:28 – 30)

13 Come unto me, O ye Gentiles, and I will show unto you the greater things, the knowledge which is hid up because of unbelief.

14 Come unto me, O ye house of Israel, and it shall be made manifest unto you how great things the Father hath laid up for you, from the foundation of the world; and it hath not come unto you, because of unbelief.

15 Behold, when ye shall rend that veil of unbelief which doth cause you to remain in your awful state of wickedness, and hardness of heart, and blindness of mind, then shall the great and marvelous things which have been hid up from the foundation of the world from you—yea, when ye shall call upon the Father in my name, with a broken heart and a contrite spirit, then shall ye know that the Father hath remembered the covenant which he made unto your fathers, O house of Israel.

16 And then shall my revelations which I have caused to be written by my servant John be unfolded in the eyes of all the people. Remember, when ye see these things, ye shall know that the time is at hand that they shall be made manifest in very deed.

17 Therefore, when ye shall receive this record ye may know that the work of the Father has commenced upon all the face of the land.

18 Therefore, repent all ye ends of the earth, and come unto me, and believe in my gospel, and be baptized in my name; for he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned; and signs shall follow them that believe in my name.

SECTION 51.

REVELATION OF FOLLY OF FRIENDSHIP WITH IDUMEA, OR THE WORLD.

Revelation to Carey Granger. He and another physically threatened me at my residence. Received April 20, 1985, Salt Lake City.

1 The highest ethic the gentiles have is being friends with the world.

2 But this is what, saith the Lord, brings a true Revelator of the House of Jacob in conflict with these who know nothing and have seen nothing, saith the Lord, but who have only tradition and conformity to bolster their otherwise weak and futile lives, and causes them to anger against the truth, and thus causes their destruction from the earth.

3 For can they, saith the Lord, resist true power and might and intelligence which is able to command and matter itself moveth hither and thither in the might and glory and honor and power of the God of my Fathers, and is able to destroy both body and soul in hell?

4 For, for this cause, it is written, saith the Lord, by my servant James, that friendship with the world, is enmity with God, for their traditions AND SENSIBILTIES, saith the Lord, are the sins of the fathers handed down to the children and are the fruits of their rebellion against the God of their Fathers, even Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and are, saith the Lord, passed down as right, but are wrong, saith the Lord, and thus the earth shall it not be cleansed?

5 And thus saith the Lord, yea even unto them who grovel their way about upon my footstool, yea, what meanest thou, O man, for I the Lord God speak and matter itself moveth, and the world which ye worship, saith the Lord, shall it not also pass away by the might of my power, which shall not be resisted by the puny arm of flesh, whether it be armies, or navies?

6 For by my power, armies and navies are defeated.

7 Yea, know ye not, O man, that friendship with the world is enmity with God? (see James 4:4)

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

8 Yea, did not mine Only Begotten Son while in my power among the Jews, did he not say, Fear not him who when he hath killed the body, that is all that he can do, but fear Him who when he hath killed the body is able to destroy both body and spirit in hellfire?

9 Yea, O ignorant and foolish man, who lifteth up thyself in pride before me, thou shalt perish if ye repent not and come not unto mine anointed son, even my servant Art Bulla, who is that One Mighty and Strong, prophesied that he should come, even by my servants, Brigham Young, and Joseph, surnamed the Seer.

10 Even so. Amen.

Revelations of Jesus Christ 51:1–10

16 For ye are blinded by the cunning craftiness of the devil, in which he hath blinded you with those things which cannot endure, and are of no eternal substance.

17 For it is by the spirit that ye gain eternal life, saith the Lord, and what doth it profit, though a man or woman gain the whole world, and lose his or her own soul, saith the Lord?

18 Therefor, judge ye, what is of most value unto thee O man, and O woman, lest ye perish with your substance which shall wax old and rust and decay, even as a garment that perisheth for the age and wear thereof.

Revelations of Jesus Christ 8:16–18

34 And again, verily I say unto you, O inhabitants of the earth: I the Lord am willing to make these things known unto all flesh;

35 For I am no respecter of persons, and will that all men shall know that the day speedily cometh; the hour is not yet, but is nigh at hand, when peace shall be taken from the earth, and the devil shall have power over his own dominion.

36 And also the Lord shall have power over his saints, and shall reign in their midst, and shall come down in judgment upon Idumea, or the world.

37 Search these commandments, for they are true and faithful, and the prophecies and promises which are in them shall all be fulfilled.

(Doctrine and Covenants | Section 1:34 – 37)

1 And now, behold, I say unto you, that ye ought to search these things. Yea, a commandment I give unto you that ye search these things diligently; for great are the words of Isaiah.

2 For surely he spake as touching all things concerning my people which are of the house of Israel; therefore it must needs be that he must speak also to the Gentiles.

3 And all things that he spake have been and shall be, even according to the words which he spake.

4 Therefore give heed to my words; write the things which I have told you; and according to the time and the will of the Father they shall go forth unto the Gentiles.

5 And whosoever will hearken unto my words and repenteth and is baptized, the same shall be saved. Search the prophets, for many there be that testify of these things.

(Book of Mormon | 3 Nephi 23:1 – 5)

26 And behold, all things are written by the Father; therefore out of the books which shall be written shall the world be judged.

A cyborg is a mixture of man and machine. And cybernetics is the study of communication and control between humans and computers.

Warwick, 52, presides excitedly over the apparent chaos at the university's MAD lab. (The name stands not for madness but for Mobile Autonomous Devices.)

Cables and machine parts litter workbenches. On the floor, two robots the size of model cars race around, mapping their environment and learning how not to bump into things. Nearby, a robot with a skull for a head works on combining the input from his various senses – audio, video, ultrasonics, radar and infrared – to interpret what's going on around it.

In another lab on campus, computers are being controlled by living tissue taken from the brains of rats.

But Warwick's most daring experiments have been on himself. On Aug. 24, 1998, as the British Broadcasting Corp. filmed, doctors made a small incision in Warwick's left arm, slid in a thin inchlong glass capsule, and stitched him up.

The capsule contained silicon microchips that announced Warwick's presence to computers. His office doors swung open as he approached. Lights flicked on as he entered. His computer said hello and told him how many e-mails were waiting.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

That chip stayed in for a couple of weeks. It's now on display at the Science Museum in London.

In 2002, doctors sliced open Warwick's left wrist and implanted a much smaller and more sophisticated device. For three months, its 100 electrodes were connected to his median nerves, linking his nervous system to a computer.

"I moved my hand, and my neural signals were sent over the Internet to open and close a robot hand," he said.

Not only that: The robotic hand had sensors. As it grasped a sponge or a glasses case, it sent information back to Warwick.

"It was tremendously exciting," Warwick said. "I experienced it as signals in my brain, which my brain was quite happy to recognize as feedback from the robot hand fingertips."

The research has significant medical implications.

Paralyzed people might regain some movement if one chip was implanted above the break in the nerves and another was implanted below to receive the impulses, Warwick said.

More intelligent chips in the brains of people with Parkinson's disease might sense when tremors were on the way and signal the brain to stop them.

"It's like a computer brain out-thinking a human brain," he said.

Warwick's biggest experiment, in which he will have a chip implanted in his brain, is seven or eight years away. He will attempt thought communication – "literally the first brain-to-brain communication," he said.

"That excites me beyond all proportion," he said. "Nothing is going to stop me from doing that."

Not everyone approves of Warwick's research. From time to time, he receives missives from people he calls religious extremists, telling him he is tampering with God's work.

And in an opinion piece this month in the Toronto Star, Kevin Haggerty, an associate professor of criminology at the University of Alberta, called Warwick part of the "advance guard" trying to expand chip technology as much as possible. The day will come, Haggerty warned, when all people will be implanted with computer chips and government will be able to track them all the time, recording their smallest behavioral traits.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Warwick acknowledges that the technology raises ethical questions. In the hands of a malign government, he said, it could be used to horrendous effect. But it can be used to good effect as well, he said.

"Ethically, the technology is there," he said. "I show people what it can do."

Despite differing over the desirability of implantation, Warwick and Haggerty agree on a great deal.

For one thing, the procedure, unheard of until recently, is becoming more common.

More pet owners are taking advantage of chip implants in dogs and cats that transmit identification to veterinarians and animal shelters.

Patrons of the Baja Beach Clubs in Barcelona, Spain, and Rotterdam, Netherlands, can have a microchip injected into their arms to get access to VIP lounges and pay for drinks without waiting in line.

For another, one early use of chips to track humans might involve sex offenders. Haggerty views this as a way to get the public used to human tracking. Warwick can envision officers trying to solve a crime pressing a button and seeing instantly the locations of all known sex offenders in a certain area.

And both men foresee a time when most people will be implanted with chips. For Warwick, that is because the advantages will be so obvious – increased memory, better ability to analyze and compare, the ability to think in more dimensions, the possibility of sensing the world in different ways.

But there will be, he said, important questions to answer.

"Is it OK to upgrade? What about the people who don't upgrade?" he asked. "If they don't upgrade, they could become some sort of subspecies."

Upgrade to a 666 person?

Rather stay as God made me and not be sent to hell.

The second beast is the global proxy government run by computers, run on Microsoft software which eventually will require everybody who wants to buy or trade accept this mark.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

This 666 connection mark to the frontal lobes will make people compliant to the wishes of the anti christ and as a reward for this compliance people will have their pleasure senses reward, as they did to a rat which was brain wired to respond to commands and when it did what the operator wanted this rat to do it was reward with a zap to the pleasure senses of the frontal lobes.

God's says their will be two types of people in the end times, the human trash wired with this 666 and God's people.

Rev13

The Beast out of the Earth

11Then I saw another beast, coming out of the earth. He had two horns like a lamb, but he spoke like a dragon. 12He exercised all the authority of the first beast on his behalf, and made the earth and its inhabitants worship the first beast, whose fatal wound had been healed. 13And he performed great and miraculous signs, even causing fire to come down from heaven to earth in full view of men. 14Because of the signs he was given power to do on behalf of the first beast, he deceived the inhabitants of the earth. He ordered them to set up an image in honor of the beast who was wounded by the sword and yet lived.

15He was given power to give breath to the image of the first beast, so that it could speak and cause all who refused to worship the image to be killed. 16He also forced everyone, small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on his right hand or on his forehead, 17so that no one could buy or sell unless he had the mark, which is the name of the beast or the number of his name.

18This calls for wisdom. If anyone has insight, let him calculate the number of the beast, for it is man's number. His number is 666.

Revelation14

9A third angel followed them and said in a loud voice: "If anyone worships the beast and his image and receives his mark on the forehead or on the hand, 10he, too, will drink of the wine of God's fury, which has been poured full strength into the cup of his wrath. He will be tormented with burning sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and of the Lamb. 11And the smoke of their torment rises for ever and ever. There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and his image, or for anyone who receives the mark of his name." 12This calls for patient endurance on the part of the saints who obey God's commandments and remain faithful to Jesus.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Re: 666 people are knocking on our door.

Revelation16

13Then I saw three evil spirits that looked like frogs; they came out of the mouth of the dragon, out of the mouth of the beast and out of the mouth of the false prophet. 14They are spirits of demons performing miraculous signs, and they go out to the kings of the whole world, to gather them for the battle on the great day of God Almighty.

And who runs this organisation of the False Prophet and holds meetings with the kings of the world?

Revelation19

20But the beast was captured, and with him the false prophet who had performed the miraculous signs on his behalf. With these signs he had deluded those who had received the mark of the beast and worshiped his image.

Do you really want some hacker stuffing around with your brain and programing you to do whatever they want, prostitutes sell their their body for drugs will you sell your soul just for a buzz?
