

Re: A few silly questions

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2007-02/msg03551.html>

- From: "David L. Burkhead" <dburkhead@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 23 Feb 2007 07:25:02 -0500
-

Wayne Dobson wrote:

"Androcles" <Engineer@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:5yzDh.353581\$Kh7.81149@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

I didn't say it was entertaining.

What you said was "I thought it would be interesting ... "10 lines above. It fails to interest me.

Ok, but this whole thing is about a group of people trying to muffle free speech and that doesn't sit well with me.

Oh, bullshit. You think you're the only one with a right of "free speech." People who disagree with you also have that right in case you didn't know.

If someone thinks you are spouting nonsense, they have a perfect right to say so.

I'm not doing this for fun, and would have left them alone, but for the fact that they tried to muzzle me any anyone else who disagrees with them.

Really? Been seeing black helicopters outside your window lately? People been watching you on the underground?

I especially didn't like attempts find my home address, to send someone over.

Re: A few silly questions

Nah, you'd much rather insult others from the anonymity of usenet.

Call me cranky.

"Paranoid" is a better term.

When the time comes where everyone on RMA is able to speak freely,
without being subjected to insults,

Wah, wah, wah. Also the height of hypocrisy.

threats, and spoiling tactics, my behaviour will also change. Not before.

Yeah, yeah, yeah. You'll be nice and polite so long as everybody tiptoes around and at least pretends to agree with you, no matter how egregious your comments. Oh, yes, and so long as every claim you make is accepted without question and you are accepted to be the ultimate authority on even when you disagree with professionals in the field—either present or by reference.

Ain't gonna happen.

--

David L. Burkhead "Dum Vivimus Vivamus"
<mailto:dburkhead@xxxxxxx> "While we live, let us live."
My webcomic Cold Servings
<http://www.coldservings.com> -- Back from hiatus!
Updates Wednesdays

.