

Usenet Servers going Anti-Truth/Faith-Based

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2007-05/msg00380.html>

- From: "Brad Guth" <bradguth@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 4 May 2007 17:36:02 +0000 (UTC)
-

Why is sci.physics, alt.astronomy and so many other public groups becoming so anti-think-tank, and otherwise so robo/stealth moderated to death?

Is it simply because us few honest folks don't happen to like our resident LLPOF warlord(Jeb Bush)?

How the hell can the likes of Scott Miller close out and/or banish a given topic that's not even his to begin with?

As having been recently pointed out by G=EMC^2 Glazier's "America's Next revolution" http://groups.google.com/group/alt.astronomy/browse_frm/thread/da393cade9ceaa88/1cf0761ca3e283b5?hl=en#1cf07

That "low wit parrot" of a pesky Mafia factor is something deeply rooted within Usenet, and it's being run rather nicely as a faith-based black hole that's continually sucking the rest of us into their event horizon by the likes of Scott Miller, that's clearly an insider spook/mole or whatever that's fully intent upon keeping the likes of our pesky replies of honestly deductive thoughts and especially our truth seeking questions outside of and/or excluded from as many Usenet groups as possible.

I'm still a bit sorry that I even had to bother doing it this way, but our warm and fuzzy Scott Miller(aka "low wit parrot") of a rusemaster and the like have been intentionally diverting and/or keeping the likes of my replies entirely out of their alt.astronomy Usenet, thereby excluded from their hijacked topic stack, along with otherwise sharing their latest robo GOOGLE/Usenet system message being:

"There are no more messages on this topic. All messages in this topic may have expired or been deleted."

That's certainly a new one, especially interesting when applied to a fresh/new topic that I'd just posted. Silly old me, I didn't know such a public Usenet was getting remote controlled by those with such hidden agendas and ulterior motives (aka Third Reich and/or OT/Jewish mindset worthy).

Usenet Servers going Anti-Truth/Faith-Based

and/or we keep getting the other pesky message: "Your account or Internet address has exceeded our posting limit at this time, please try again later." In other words, our topics and replies are running at too much bandwidth. (sorry about that)

Due to such robo-moderation that's seriously running amuck, you'll have to go to this secondary topic if you want to read my last reply to G=EMC^2 Glazier's "What if (on White Dwarfs)"

Otherwise, keep using GOOGLE/Usenet or something other than your filtered PC Usenet reader has to offer, in order to check up on what's otherwise happening to your topics in the public eye, as it's actually getting very cloak and dagger Mafia worthy, the likes of e-whacking us out of their picture.

Scott Miller: What if (on White Dwarfs)

http://groups.google.com/group/sci.physics/browse_frm/thread/3769b2961bbfc213/7939b2ceb5dfd578?hl=en#7939b2

What if (on White Dwarfs) / by G=EMC^2 Glazier (the original topic)

http://groups.google.com/group/alt.astronomy/browse_frm/thread/ccdfca1d336f5a08?scoring=d&hl=en

I may even have to post a few other secondary topics for the very same pesky reasons. So, stay tuned in for the latest news from the weird but honest worlds of Guth and G=EMC^2 Glazier.

—

Brad Guth

—

Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server – <http://www.Mailgate.ORG>

.