

Re: How do physicists deal journals in other languages?

Re: How do physicists deal journals in other languages?

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2007-10/msg01147.html>

---

- From: Andy Resnick <andy.resnick@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Thu, 18 Oct 2007 07:56:32 -0500
-

Eric Gisse wrote:

On Thu, 18 Oct 2007 08:21:23 +1000, Timo Nieminen
<timo@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:
[...]

That said, it isn't uncommon for papers to be cited unread.

So is my assumption that folks have read their references to be one that I shouldn't get too attached to?

Everyone is different– I try and read every reference, but I may not spend that much time trying to understand all the details if the reason for citing the reference is simply the main conclusion. I suppose I rely on peer-review in that respect.

—
Andrew Resnick, Ph.D.
Department of Physiology and Biophysics
Case Western Reserve University
.